Meet the Instructors

Peter Eisenberg has been training in Krav Maga for 8 years, with 5 years of instructor experience. He has certifications in Law Enforcement, VIP (Body Guard), Lead Instructor and Stay Away - Women & Children's Self Defense. Peter is motivated by helping others listen to their inner alarm and teaching children how to stand up to bullies at school.

Shelly Johnson has been training in Krav Maga for 5 years. It's important to Shelly that people feel confident whether they are walking down the street or standing at a bus stop. She enjoys helping people feel prepared for whatever may happen in their everyday lives. Shelly is working on certification in Stay Away - Women's Self Defense.

ABOUT US
Pine Technical & Community College, a leader in Continuing Education & Customized training, is partnering with Valley Self-Defense. Valley Self-Defense is an expert on self-defense for men, women and children. Instructors use the Krav Maga approach, which is a self-defense system designed to use your natural instincts to protect yourself and your loved ones.

Valley Self-Defense is a proud member of the International Krav Maga Federation (IKMF)

MISSION
Trainers
We teach self-defense for every day life. We use your natural instincts to help you defend against an attack, no matter your fitness level or age.

Classes offer students with or without previous experience in martial arts or self-defense to learn how to listen and respond to their inner alarm and to defend themselves against every day attacks, such as slaps, punches, chokes and more.
