Human Services Eligibility Worker

- Associate of Applied Science
- Diploma

Human Services Eligibility Workers are highly sought after by Minnesota County Human Services agencies across the state, and Pine Technical and Community College offers two program levels to prepare you for a career in this field. The classroom portion of the program can be completed through online learning and virtual attendance while the internship occurs at a local county agency. These programs have been developed in consultation with the Minnesota Department of Human Services, and PTCC is the only Minnesota institution with an approved DHS program, with access to the DHS computer systems MAXIS, MEC2, and MMIS. The associate degree and diploma levels provide the needed competencies to meet the requirements to test with the Minnesota Merit System.

Career Outlook

Eligibility workers are employed by Minnesota human service agencies to assist families and individuals who are living in poverty. Typically, HSEW graduates are found working for various counties or the State of Minnesota. County human service agencies in all 87 counties in Minnesota employ eligibility workers. More than two thousand men and women are currently employed as eligibility workers across the state. Historically, between 150 and 200 eligibility workers are hired statewide each year. Although some newly hired eligibility workers are promoted from clerical jobs within a human service agency, many new hires come from outside the agency, and many prefer to hire HSEW graduates.
